

WE WILL MISS YOU, BUT WE WILL BE BACK SOON

We here at Xpresso Cafe want to wish everyone a safe and healthy lockdown. We know that this is a very hard time for all of our customers and we pray that this virus will soon be just a bad memory.

We want to encourage everyone to please stay at home, take care of their families and keep their distance from all other people. This is hard when we are asked to not socialize, meet our friends and get together with family.

However, this too shall pass. And when it does, everyone must use this time to the best of their abilities to become better people. This universe has now allowed you time to rest, time to spend with your people in your home, time to read, learn a skill, deep clean your house and cupboards and so much more.

Do not waste this time and just watch TV. Use this time to learn something new, have real deep conversations with friends and family over the phone, build puzzles, play with your kids, look at starting a new business from home and plan for the future.

Even when things are not looking bright right now, the sun will shine again tomorrow and yes, your entire world might change in the next couple of weeks, we wish for you to remain healthy, both physically and emotionally and to focus on rebuilding and restructuring an even better future.

Stay safe.
